

natural horse planet

The foundations of the relationship between man and horse

The last paradise of the LIPICA stallions

The Arabian

A treasure of nature to be preserved

How do you like your horse?

HIPPOPHAGY

From the other side of the mirror

The Brigitte Bardot Foundation excluded from the 2007 Paris Horse Show

Exclusive interview with Christian Patria
President of the International Agricultural Show and President of the 2007 Paris Horse Show

The foundations
of the relationship between man and horse

Now on your computer screen!
www.naturalhorseplanet.com

T

hanks to the domestication of the horse, human history followed a path that led us to where we are today - with progress at best, and disturbance of the ecological balance at worst. As a result of our choices.

Conqueror of the world, inveterate dominator, man has also taken over the life of the horse, on the pretext that it is its lack of intelligence and its ignorance of its own physical strength which lead it to accept what is asked of it - whether it be to head in the direction of the slaughterhouse, the arena or the equestrian sports venue, where it is presented as 'our noblest conquest'.

And yet the behavior and lifestyle of horses - their own choices, when we allow them to make them - could serve as an example for us, and inspire in us new ideas on how to improve the structure of our society, our health or our environment.

This edition of Natural Horse Planet launches a necessary debate on the foundations of the relationship between man and horse. If we could make them evolve towards a mutual understanding, the well-being of all would be enhanced.

C O N T E N T S

Natural Horse Planet magazine nr.11 - Spring 2008

- The feral horses of Shackleford Island
- The Arabian - A treasure of nature to be preserved Arab thoroughbreds - the natural side
- HIPPOPHAGY - From the other side of the mirror
- Brigitte Bardot Foundation excluded from the 2007 Paris Horse Show
Exclusive interview with Christian Patria
President of the Agricultural Show and President of the Paris Horse Show
- Planet Gallery - Gros Culs designed by Blandine Pesme
- Horse markets
- A sense of guilt or a sense of responsibility?
- Science Shorts
Considering Coprophagy in the Foal Beware of the bottle raised male orphan!
- The last Paradise of the Lipica Stallions Changes in Lipica
- Wild vs. Farrier vs. Natural
- Digging for the truth about the navicular syndrome